HARVARD IS FAVORITE IN TODAY'S GAME

Record Breaking Crowd to See Game at New Haven, Which is Expected to Be Close--Both Teams Confident

(By Frank G. Menke)
New Haven, Conn., Nov. 25.—The pulse of New Haven beat a bit faster today under the pressure of myriads of beautiful women; of thousands of strong-voiced men; of miles and miles of hunting and flag; of enthusiasm that reached a fever point.
The City of Elms was dressed in the gayest attire as a welcome for the hosts of Harvard and those of Yale who came here for the grailron class of the afternoon; for the football struggle that will be staged before the biggest audience that ever saw a college entertainment in all history.
The Yale Bowl this afternoon will house about 72,000 spectators, which

LARGE CROWD AT ARMY AND NAVY FOOT BALL GAME

President Wilson Will Not Attend the Annual Event.

(Special to The Herald)
New York, Nov. 25.—An ideal football day with a sparkle to the sunshine and zip to the air, slipped into New York during the night to attend the Army and Navy football game at the Polo grounds. The weather was an unexpected and welcome visitor to the 50,000 odd people gathered to attend the game. The Army, with a string of victories extending back to 1910, will go into the game a big favorite. The crowd which surged about the hotel lobbies showed so much army money that the odds changed to 10 to 8 and then 2 to 1. Only one feature of the game will be missing this afternoon, President Wilson will not be able to attend.

JURY RETURNS VERDICT FOR PLAINTIFF

After Being Out for Seventeen Hours in Rand-Watson Case.

The jury in the action of Mrs. Carrie Rand, wife of Fred Rand of this city, against John Watson of Sanford, Me., after being out for seventeen hours, reported shortly after 10 o'clock Saturday morning a verdict of $550 for the plaintiff. This action was brought by Mrs. Rand to recover for alleged injuries received on October 26, 1915, when a carriage in which Mrs. Rand was driving was struck by the automobile driven by Watson at the corner of State and Fleet streets. Col. John H. Bartlett and Ralph C. Gray appeared for Mrs. Rand and Watson was represented by George T. Hughes of Dover.

ROUMANIA IN THE GRIP OF A MILITARY VISE

Now Lies Practically Helpless Before the All Powerful Military Steam Roller of Germany

(Special to The Herald)
London, Nov. 25.—Within less than three months after she entered the war Rumania lies practically helpless before the all-powerful military steam roller of Germany. Nearly 15,000 of Rumania's total area of 65,000 square miles are now controlled by the German allies. The German veteran army sweeping across the Wallachian plain from Craiova have crossed the All river about nine miles west of Bucharest. In eastern Rumania the jaw of the military vise is closing in with an increasing pressure. Von Mackensen's

WILL AWAIT OUTCOME OF THE ADAMSON LAW

American Federation of Labor Refers 8-Hour Day to a Special Committee.

(Special to The Herald)
Baltimore, Nov. 25.—Resolutions calling for the securing of the eight-hour day in all industries by law, were disposed of for another year, when the convention of the American Federation of Labor today voted to refer them to a special committee which shall confer with the chiefs of the four great railroad brotherhoods and report at the next convention. Practically no opposition was offered to this move on the part of the delegates from the big unions, they having been induced to allow the matter to rest over until the outcome of the Adamson eight-hour law was decided by the supreme court.

RUSSIAN GOVERNMENT IS ALARMED

Complete Reorganization of the Russian Ministry Is Looked For.

(Special to The Herald)
Copenhagen, Nov. 25.—Political unrest in Russia has reached such an acute stage that the government has become alarmed by the widespread discontent. This is shown by the fact that the government has given way before the popular clamor and has removed Premier Sturmez, replacing him with M. Trepoft, who is acknowledged to be a progressive and a reformer. Advances from Petrograd are that a complete reorganization of the Russian ministry is looked for, owing to the insistent demand of the people that more progressive ideas be adopted. The Duma still in session is planning to bring about many changes for a more liberal form of government.

FIRE IN HOLD OF BALTIMORE BOUND STEAMER

The Powhattan of Merchant and Miners' Line Puts in at Block Island--Fire Said to Be Under Control

(Special to The Herald)
Providence, Nov. 25.—The steamer Powhattan of the Merchant and Miners' Transportation Company, bound from Boston to Baltimore, put in at New Shoreham on Block Island, eighteen miles off the Rhode Island mainland at 6:30 this morning with a fire in its hold and a sharp list to starboard. Passengers, especially women, were apparently in great agitation, so far as watches from the

SWEDEN DEMANDS EXPLANATION

From the German Government on the Sinking of the Ship Arthur.

(Special to The Herald)
London, Nov. 25.—Sweden has instructed her diplomatic representative at Berlin to demand an explanation from the German government on the sinking of the Swedish ship, Arthur.

Coal prices in New York took another drop yesterday. Keep up the good work and we may get some benefit by the time warm weather sets in.

SAILORS FROM THE GLACIER MEET DEATH

When Launch Is Cut in Two by Paddle Wheel of Ferry Boat.

(Special to The Herald)
San Francisco, Nov. 25.—At least one, and probably several sailors of the U. S. supply ship Glacier, were killed today when a launch in which there were from fifty to seventy men returning to the ship from shore leave was cut in two by the paddle wheel of the Southern Pacific ferry Apache.

If you want the news you must read The Herald.

VERY LITTLE MOVEMENT ON RUSSIAN LINE

Reports of Increased Artillery Activity Southwest of Riga.

Berlin, by wireless, via Sayville, Nov. 25.—Southwest of Riga there has been an increased artillery activity. No mention was made of any other front in the first report.
There has been very little movement in this section of the long-Russian line, the Russian commanders having devoted the time to the southern end and to Roumania. The artillery activity may mean that Russia is going to exert pressure on the extreme northern end of the line with the hope of relieving pressure on the Roumanian front, or at least to prevent the Germans from transporting troops from that section to aid in the big drive being made in Roumania.

ANCIENT RITUAL TO BE FOLLOWED BY CEREMONY

Coronation of Emperor Charles Francis Joseph to Take Place in December.

London, Nov. 25.—The coronation of Emperor Charles Francis Joseph of Austria and King of Hungary, will probably take place in December. The ancient ritual will be followed, the ceremony to take place at Budapest. All plans for the funeral of Emperor Joseph have been completed and they will be very elaborate.

PRESIDENT HAS SEVERE COLD

Which Prevents His Attending the Army and Navy Game.

Washington, Nov. 25.—President Wilson will not attend the Army and Navy football game at New York this afternoon. Surgeon Cary T. Grayson this afternoon refused to allow the President to take chances of the exposure on the football field with the cold that he has, and which today did not show any signs of improvement. The President will remain in the White House today and possibly tomorrow.

MOTHER AND TWO CHILDREN ARE BURNED

When Fire Destroys Their Cottage at Ghenango Bridge.

Binghamton, N. Y., Nov. 25.—Mrs. Russell O'Hara, wife of a New York school teacher and her two daughters aged 8 years, were burned to death today when fire destroyed their cottage near the Ghenango bridge. The charred bodies of the mother and two little girls all huddled together were found in the ruins. Mrs. Hattie Sullivan, aged 27, was the only occupant of the house to escape, having jumped from a second story window.

ROBBED OF THE WEEKLY PAYROLL

Masked Bandits Hold Up Thomas Carroll, a Cleveland Paymaster.

Cleveland, Nov. 25.—Two masked bandits this noon held up and robbed Thomas Carroll, paymaster of the Peerless Paper Box Company of $2300 the weekly payroll which Carroll had just got from the bank.

WAS PROMINENT IN WOMEN'S WORK

Mrs. Mary Josephine Horne Dies at Home in Derry.

Derry, Nov. 25.—Mrs. Mary Josephine Horne, wife of Warren P. Horne, died early yesterday morning at her home on High street, death being due to heart trouble, with which she had been suffering for a long time. She had been very ill at intervals for the last week but each time had rallied so that with the strong constitution which she possessed her friends had hoped that she might recover. Mrs. Horne was one of the best known women in New Hampshire, being a member of no less than nine organizations. She was an active and consistent worker in all and was always enthusiastic for the welfare of each.

Mrs. Horne was a member of Iveshoe Temple, No. 1, Pythian Sisters and a past supreme representative; she was instrumental in founding Mansford Chapter, Order of the Eastern Star, in Derry and was past grand matron; she was the governor-elect of Beaver colony, United Order of Pilgrim Fathers, and a member of Nutfield Grange of East Derry; she was a member of Wesley B. Knight Woman's Relief Corps and of Mizpah Lodge, Daughters of Rebekah, also of the Rebekah assembly of New Hampshire and the Manchester Past Grand association and was likewise a member of the Degree of Pequotas in East Manchester. Mrs. Horne was deeply interested in every organization with which she was allied.

Mrs. Horne was born in Windham on August 21, 1851, but the last 15 years of her life had been spent in Derry. She was the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Nathaniel Ripley. Besides her husband, Warren P. Horne, she is survived by an only daughter, Mrs. Herbert Rogers of Derry. All the organizations with which she was connected will attend the funeral in St. Luke's church Sunday afternoon in a body.

CATHOLIC CHURCH BURNED

Quebec, Nov. 24.—Fire today destroyed the L'Annonciation Roman Catholic church here, with a property loss estimated at $150,000. Fifteen years ago the edifice of this parish, which is under the guidance of the Capucine Fathers, was similarly burned.

CHILD GETS SICK, CROSS, FEVERISH IF CONSTIPATED

"California Syrup of Figs" can't harm tender stomach

A laxative today saves a sick child tomorrow. Children simply will not take the time from play to empty their bowels, which become clogged up with waste, liver gets sluggish, stomach sour.

Look at the tongue, mother! If coated, or your child is listless, cross, feverish, breath bad, restless, doesn't eat heartily, full of cold or has sore throat or any other children's ailment, give a teaspoonful of "California Syrup of Figs," then don't worry, because it is perfectly harmless, and in a few hours all this constipation poison, sour bile and fermenting waste will gently move out of the bowels, and you have a well, playful child again. A thorough "inside cleansing" is oftentimes all that is necessary. It should be the first treatment given in any sickness.

Beware of counterfeit fig syrups. Ask your druggist for a 50-cent bottle of "California Syrup of Figs," which has full directions for babies, children of all ages and for grown-ups plainly printed on the bottle. Look carefully and see that it is made by the "California Fig Syrup Company."

Walter D. Pettigrew was given a pleasant surprise party at his home in North Kittery on Friday evening, the occasion being his birthday. Miss Nina Caswell of North Kittery and Miss Olga Hayes of Portsmouth rendered a pleasing musical selection. During the evening Selection Harry H. Cook, in behalf of those present, presented Mr. Pettigrew with a substantial gift and the latter feelingly responded to the gift. An appealing request was served under the direction of Mrs. Irma Pettigrew and she was ably assisted by Mrs. L. A. Downing, Mrs. Hayes Martin and Mrs. Elbridge Tomlin. The evening was greatly enjoyed by all and pleasant memories of the same will linger for a long time.

Extensive improvements have been made on the parsonage of the First Methodist church at North Kittery. The assistance given by the men in the neighborhood is fully appreciated. The amateur club of the Government Street Church met last evening at the home of Miss Mitchell Gerry of Love Lane. Refreshments were served.

At the regular meeting of Kittery Grange, No. 325, Friday evening there were three candidates initiated into the first and second degrees.

Mrs. Harry Cheney of Portland was the guest of her sister, Mrs. Charles W. Adams.

The First M. E. Church of North Kittery will be filled to capacity tomorrow as all attend who have planned to do so. The pastor, Mr. Brooks, will not be present, but the pulpit will be well supplied as his able and talented wife and co-worker, Mrs. Brooks, will officiate in his absence. All who attend will no doubt receive much inspiration as she is well known as an able and eloquent speaker.

There is to be special music at the Christian Endeavor meeting Sunday evening at 8 o'clock in the vestry of the Second Christian church.

The residents of North Kittery are asking this question: "As the first Methodist church in Kittery was built in the early part of the town, why was not the first Methodist church represented in the first anniversary exercises?" The Second (Government Street) Methodist church in the village.

The Ladies' Union of the First Methodist church, who met last week with Mrs. Alice Caswell, made and donated curtains for the parsonage.

Mrs. Earle H. Dearborn of Rogers said is the guest of friends in Saco, Me., for a week.

Mr. Jetham H. Gerry of Love Lane very quietly observed his 83d birthday Friday.

The Ladies' Union of the First Methodist church will hold their annual Christmas sale Dec. 12.

Chicken pox is going its rounds among the little people of this town. During the absence of Rev. Herbert Brooks, Mrs. Brooks will occupy the pulpit of the First Methodist church, Sunday morning and evening, Nov. 26.

Mr. and Mrs. Willard Locke of Locke's Cove have returned from a visit with relatives in Wareham, Mass.

Mrs. Abbie Griffin of Lynn, Mass., has returned home after a two months' visit with her niece, Mrs. C. S. Child of Kittery Junction.

Mr. and Mrs. Harold Chick celebrated the first anniversary of their marriage on Friday evening at their home at Kittery Junction.

The evening was pleasantly passed with music and games. Mr. and Mrs. Chick were the recipients of many presents from their friends. Refreshments of ice cream and cake were served. The guests took their departure at a late hour after a very enjoyable evening.

Auction sale of real estate in Kittery, Monday, Nov. 27, at 10 a. m., on the premises, the real estate of the late William Hutchings will be sold at Public Auction. Some excellent parcels of tillage, pasture and woodland, will be disposed of at this sale.

GREEK MYTH PRESENTED BY FRESHMEN

LARGE AUDIENCE AT HIGH SCHOOL WHEN DRAMATIC CLUB OPENED SEASON.

Assembly Hall, High school building, was filled to capacity last evening on the occasion of the presentation of three plays by pupils of the school who are members of the Dramatic Club. The plays were "Orestes," a Greek Myth, by the members of the Freshman class; "The Merchant's Trial," and "The Registered Letter."

The Greek myth, "Orestes" was presented by members of the ancient history class of the freshman year, and was produced under the direction of Miss Knowles, instructor in history. The characters were played by Robert Marvin, Robert Fitzpatrick, Caylon Hader, Mary Washburn, Marion Payne, Sarah Thomas and Alice McWilliams. One of the features of this number was the singing and dancing of the Wood Nymphs, characterized by Marjorie Lance, Louise Bragdon, Gladys Weaver, Virginia Barton, Margaret Scott, Lucille Jacques, Anna Scott, Sylvia Sterling, Ellen Woods, Helen Newell and Virginia J. Fournier.

The stage setting was a masterpiece and the attractive Greek costumes added greatly to the pleasing effect. Many of the costumes were designed and made for the occasion by members of the domestic science class. The dancing and singing of the nymphs was led by Gladys Weaver and Louise Bragdon.

The evening was the first of a series planned for the season and the success gained by the "Orestes" players has given them every confidence in their ability to continue their excellent work. All three of the plays were admirably presented and the several amateur artists should be entirely satisfied with their successes.

NOTES OF THE SPORTS

Big Wrestling Bill

Wrestling enthusiasts in all parts of the East are showing the keenest interest in the great series of matches which promoter George Tuckey has arranged for his annual Thanksgiving night carnival in Mechanics building, Boston.

The fact that here are four full matches on the program means that the entire card will be filled with "pep" and that there will be rugged action every minute from the moment the first pair step through the ropes until the final fall is scored.

While it is difficult to call any of the events the main attraction, because of the excellent balance of the show, the place of honor is given to Walter Zhyzko, the Polish heavyweight, and Fred Hinkoff, the giant Finn. It will be the latter's first appearance in Boston, but he is a wrestler of wide experience and the type of man who can press the pole from start to finish.

Another newcomer is Torkin, the Greek strong man, holder of many world's records for lifting. He is opposed by Sollier Leavitt, whose great work in Boston in the past has won him many admirers.

Karl Lende the crack Bohemian, faces Hinner Johnson of Sweden, while promoter Tuckey is trying to pair off Hevumpan and Michaeloff, to round out the great card.

Exeter Is Much Interested.

Probably never before has there been so much interest in Exeter in the Harvard football game at New Haven, mainly from the fact that "Tad" Jones, Exeter's former coach is head coach at Yale and there are so many Exeter players on the Yale eleven. Exeter is also well represented on the Harvard eleven as "Eddie" Casey, captain of the '11 eleven is expected to star for the Crimson. On the Yale eleven will be Charles Comerford, Captain Clinton R. Black, Chester Litchfield and Reginald Hutchingson, probably as regulars and other Exeter players of the past who are likely to get in here Heyliger, Church and Frank Lynch on the ends and "Bill" White in the backfield, and Phillip Zenner in the line. Probably no other school in the country is so well represented in the big football game, and the result is eagerly awaited there. A delegation will attend the game, including many Harvard and Yale alumni, but more will watch the bulletin boards during the progress of the game.

Everybody's friends—Dr. Thomas' Electric Oil, the great household remedy for toothache, sore throat, cuts, bruises, scalds. Sold at all drug stores, 25c and 50c.

CHURCHES.—The Ladies' Union of the First Methodist church will hold their annual Christmas sale Dec. 12.

Rev. E. W. Cummings will leave on Monday morning for his home in Montpelier, Vt., where he will pass the week with his mother.

The wedding of Miss Edith M. Seaboard and William Mackney of Kittery occurred at 1 o'clock this afternoon at the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Morton Seaboard.

There will be special singing at the Bethel service, Congregational church, on Monday evening.

GREEK SITUATION NEAR THE BREAKING POINT

Clash Appears Imminent as Royal Troops Refuse to Evacuate Katerina as Demanded by Sarraïl

London, Nov. 24.—Another crisis has arisen in Greece that may portend actual fighting between the forces of the Allies and those who look to King Constantine for their orders. The royalist garrison of Katerina has refused to evacuate the position and General Sarraïl, commander-in-chief Salonica army, so-called, of the Allies, has warned the Government at Athens that unless orders are issued forthwith to the Greek troops to give way, force will be used to expel them. Again the issue is up to Constantine. Early this month royalist troops and forces of the provisional Government of Greece, established by adherents of former Premier Venizelos, disputed possession of Katerina, about thirty-five miles southwest of Salonica, near the Gulf of Salonica, to which provisional Government troops had advanced. On Nov. 5 French troops were announced as having arrived at Katerina to occupy the town, and on Nov. 17 General Sarraïl was reported to have sent troops to maintain a neutral zone along the frontier of Old Greece. To this, it was said, the Greek Government would protest, and a Salonica news despatch on the twenty-first announced a refusal of Greek troops to withdraw from the villages in the neutral zone, following which they were notified that they must leave by that evening.

Virtual completion of the Teutonic conquest of Little Wallachia is announced today by Berlin. Grosa and Turin Severin, on the Danube, have been captured by the Austro-German forces, who have broken the resistance of the Rumanians in this section of western Roumania. The retreat of these Ruman forces is assumed to have been cut off with the recent capture by General von Falkenhayn's armies of Craiova, and with it the only main line railroad leading eastward. Pushing eastward from the Jiu valley after their capture of Craiova, the Austro-German forces are now announced as approaching the Alt valley. It is along this valley that the Rumanians apparently have elected to make their next stand. Bucharest yesterday reported a withdrawal of the Rumanians from the Jiu region and announced that they were holding their own in the Alt valley, where a Teutonic force is driving from the northern Ruman border, in a converging attack with the forces from the west. Simultaneously a movement has been made, presumably by the Bulgarians, which may prove of notable importance. Bucharest reports an attempt by hostile forces to cross the Danube at Zimniza, 35 miles southwest of Giurgiu, on the railroad leading to Bucharest. This move, if successful, would mean a cutting in far behind the present Ruman line along the Alt. Zimniza is seventy miles southwest of Bucharest. On the other hand, the Rumanians and Rumanians have made a counter move in Dobruja. Petrograd announces that they are pushing south and have reached Lake Tassaul, about twelve miles north of Constantza which is the Black Sea terminus of the railroad from Cernavoda, and have crossed the Karal river. Berlin announces a battle in this region, declaring, however, that the Russians were thrown back from advanced positions. Both east and west of Monastir, on the Macedonian front, the Entente armies are pressing the Germano-Bulgarian lines hard and making further advances, according to the French war office announcement today. Berlin announces the repulse of local attacks by Entente troops northwest and northeast of Monastir.

Trepoff, Alexander, Minister of Railroads, apparently, and not General Demetri, the notorious young Governor of Petrograd, has been appointed to succeed Sturmer as premier. The retirement of Premier Sturmer is the outgrowth of what has been referred to in a few carefully censored Petrograd despatches recently as a serious political crisis in the life of the Russian nation. The change apparently implies a victory for the liberal elements of Russia over the bureaucratic regime for M. Sturmer always has been prominent in the affairs of the Russian bureaucracy, while M. Trepoff in the past has engaged in a variety of reform work. A recent Petrograd despatch quoted Professor Paul Miliukoff, one of the prominent liberal leaders, to the effect that an agreement had been reached between the government and the Duma which was entirely satisfactory to the representatives of the people, but there had been no previous intimation that this would result in the retirement of the premier. In fact, a despatch filed in Petrograd on Wednesday quoted the well-informed Ruskoy Slovo, to the effect that M. Sturmer was convinced the crisis had passed and that he existing order would remain without change, for the present at least. Although Russia has been a constitutional monarchy since 1905, when the first step toward a representative government was made, the legislative, executive and judicial power have continued to be united to a great extent in the Emperor, who still bears the title of autocrat. There is a distinct cleavage, moreover, between the Duma and the government, whose members are appointed by the Emperor and are not responsible to the Duma. It was this condition which was largely responsible for the serious political crisis that came to a head with the recent assembling of the Duma. At that time the government was made the object of a bitter attack by various influential parties, representing the voice of public opinion which could not be ignored, and the displacement of M. Sturmer probably means that for the first time in Russian history the representatives of the people have succeeded in moulding the government in accordance with their wishes. M. Sturmer, the successor of Premier Goremykin, was appointed on Feb. 1, 1916. Before his appointment he was the representative of the right wing in the financial debates in the council of the Empire, the upper legislative body. M. Trepoff, who is in his fifty-fifth year, served nine years in the army. In 1896 he became attached to the imperial Chancellery, and won distinction through his share in the work of a commission of inquiry into the state of the noble class in Russia. In 1905, when the constitution was granted and Count Witte was in power, M. Trepoff participated in reform work, and in 1911 he was appointed to the imperial council. Neither Paris nor London reports any infantry activity on the front in France and Belgium. According to Berlin the British attacked in the Ancre region, but failed to gain ground.

PUT THROUGH "THE THIRD DEGREE"

At the big Boston Theatre this week there is appearing a one act comedy dramatic playlet entitled: "The Cop." It is being presented by Mr. Joseph Green & Co., and is rated as one of the season's best offerings. The Third Degree is brought to ones attention during the action of this piece, not in a serious manner, but humorously. See it Monday at the Colonial.

A favorite of many years ago to appear here Monday, is Arthur Rigby, the premier blackface comedian. Arthur has a line of war talk that will bring forth a storm of laughter. Rigby is the late star of the Honey Day Evans Minstrels, taking this star part when the late "Honey Boy" was obliged to quit the stage.

Three star acts surround the two mentioned features.

Thursday (Thanksgiving Day) there will be extra shows. Seats may now be secured. Ellis Rig Revue, seven people, will top the list.

ACKNOWLEDGEMENT.

JURY FAILED TO REPORT

The case of Rand v. Watson, the last of the jury cases in the present term of the Superior court, sitting before Judge Chamberlain of Berlin, was given to the jury late yesterday afternoon. The jury retired for deliberation at 7:00 o'clock after supper had been served but at 2:05 o'clock this morning had not reached a verdict. If the jury disagrees in the case it will go over to the January term which sits at Exeter.

This is the last case to be heard before the court this session and the jurors not drawn to serve on this jury were discharged from further duty on Thursday afternoon at the adjournment of court.

AT THE PRINCIPAL BOSTON THEATRES

"THE CINDERELLA MAN"

Charming Comedy at Ye Wilbur Theatre, Boston, Has Scored a Notable Triumph.

"The Cinderella Man," a romantic comedy in four acts by Edward Childs Carpenter.

This charming play began the second week of its Boston engagement last Monday at Ye Wilbur Theatre, Boston, with a crowded attendance. The piece will awaken enthusiastic response from jaded theatregoers whose appetites demand new sensations; and for those who do not turn a deaf ear to romance and genuine sentiment Mr. Carpenter has provided light and refreshing entertainment. Although both whimsical and wholesome the play is far from saccharine. The story of the Cinderella man and his fairy godmother is well told. All the elements of romance are cleverly employed. There is a youthful rich and lonely little heroine, a poor but determined young poet struggling in a garret and too proud to borrow, a grumpy millionaire father, a shabby retainer, who as "gentleman's gentleman," has seen better days, an amiable lawyer of the theatrical variety who aids and abets the purposes of the young people in their innocent search for happiness and success.

When Marjorie Cramer's mother dies in Europe she returns to her father, whom she has not seen for years and to a life of lonely luxury. Hearing about Anthony Quintard, a poet who lives in a nearby garret, she resolves to play fairy godmother. She walks over the roofs, climbs in at the window and brings him Christmas cheer. Later she typewrites the libretto of his opera with which he hopes to win fame and fortune. Quintard thinks Marjorie's companion, for the girl knows his prejudice against young women of wealth. But when the hand-lady rudely ends their secret and innocent meetings and shatters their budding romance, the identity of his benefactor is necessarily disclosed. As in most fairy tales, however, there is a happy ending.

The two leading characters, Marjorie Cramer and Anthony Quintard are capably played by Miss Foster and Mr. Hull. Miss Foster is excellently fitted by nature for the part. She reads her lines intelligently, with genuine sweetness and sincerity. She does not whine. Mr. Hull is a boyish poet. He plays a congenial role with romantic fervor and exuberance of spirit. Excellent too is the Walter Nicolls of Reginald Mason, a flippant and impetuous suitor for Marjorie's hand who contemplates a life of travel and luxury.

The third week begins next Monday, Nov. 27, and there will be an extra matinee Thanksgiving day.

MABIMOVA

Creates a Positive Sensation in Her 8 Reel Photo-play "War Brides" at Globe Theatre, Boston.

An event of great importance to all interested in motion pictures is that remarkable attraction on its second week at the Globe Theatre, Boston, beginning next Monday, Nov. 27. Herbert Brenson's film version of Marion Craig Wentworth's play "War Brides" with Alla Nazimova, the celebrated emotional actress making her debut in the movies in the role she made famous in vaudeville. It was no easy task to persuade Nazimova to appear in the screen drama, but having entered the circle she gave to her work that thoroughness that has always marked her art.

To those who saw Nazimova in the play, the plot of "War Brides" is familiar, and Mr. Brenson has simply extended the story, altering it only in non-vital points. He starts in at an earlier period of Joan's tragic career, showing her as a maiden at a time when nothing more serious than a labor strike was disturbing her country. He pictures her wooing, her betrothal, his call to arms and hasty departure for the front after a brief honeymoon following a sad wedding. Then loneliness comes to the young bride, and her discovery that she must prepare for motherhood. Then the awful tidings from the battlefield—her husband has been killed. Despair succeeds loneliness and she determines that she will do all she can to prevent the compulsory marriage of young girls to men destined for the front.

Her bold action brings down upon her the wrath of the military authorities; she is imprisoned, escapes and leads a band of women into the very presence of the king and demands that the war cease. In the confusion that follows Joan kills herself rather than bear a son for the army.

Nazimova is at her best in "War Brides," the experts agree after a private view that the new picture of Brenson's was his best, that the art of the photodrama, was carried to new heights by Nazimova.

"VERY GOOD EDDIE"

When Boston refuses to let a musical show depart after it has broken all attendance records and all records for long runs, as is the case with "Very Good Eddie," there must be a reason. For "Very Good Eddie" was originally booked to appear in Boston for eight weeks, and its engagement was extended again and again until it totaled a run of fourteen weeks at the Wilbur Theatre. The engagement at that playhouse could not be further extended, owing to existing contracts, and "Very Good Eddie" was moved over to the Plymouth Theatre, where it is now in its third week at that house and its 16th week in Boston, giving the same great performance, with the same superb cast and the same swagger fashion chorus. "Very Good Eddie" cannot remain in Boston much longer, as it is contracted to appear in Philadelphia early in December. So it behooves those who have not yet seen this smartest and brightest of all recent musical comedy hits to get in touch with the Plymouth Theatre at once.

LEW FIELDS

In His 2nd and Last Week in "Step This Way" at the Majestic Theatre, Boston.

The second and last week of Lew Fields' engagement in "Step This Way" will end with two performances at the Majestic Theatre in Boston, on Saturday night, December 2nd, after which the star and his big musical comedy organization will move on to other cities which await his coming. Lew Fields' success in the role of "Henry Schiff" has been most flattering, and "Step This Way" has proved to be a splendid stellar vehicle for the star. Naturally the piece is designed for laughing purposes only, and one succession of ludicrous situations follow another in rapid order. The scenes are located in London, the first act showing the interior of the Universal Department Store, and the last act being devoted to a brilliant garden party at Hammersmith, a smart city suburb. The Schiff's are newly rich parvenues, and the wife wants to shine in society, much to the disgust of her plodding, peevish husband. Naturally one character is a fine foil for the other, and with Lew Fields playing "Henry Schiff" and Alice Fischer impersonating "Mrs. Schiff" there is something doing in the laugh line every minute of the three hours of the show. Other talented comedians and comedienne in "Step This Way" are Gladys Clark and Henry Herman, Marguerite Farrell, Elizabeth Wood, Sam Body, Trisie Smith, Vaughn Trevor, Edmund Jessi, Charles Mitchell, Virginia Richardson. The Eight High Steppers, and a fifty bunch of fifty pretty and agile chorus girls. Brilliant costumes, and gorgeous scenery will be in evidence for Lew Fields believes in lavish stage settings, and gives his audiences their money's worth in every instance. There will be an extra special matinee on Thanksgiving Day, and the engagement will conclude with a matinee and an evening performance on Saturday, December 2nd.

ANOTHER CONVERSION AT THE SALVATION ARMY

The local Salvationists are rejoicing these days over the fact that their efforts are so successful in making converts and members for the Salvation Army. The recent special meetings were the most successful for many years and as a result some 12 men and women are waiting to be "sworn in" as members of the local corps. Last night another new convert was added to the number, and being a cornetist, will be able to display his talent to attract others to his belief.

DODGE BROTHERS MOTOR CAR

You must have noticed that the first thing said about the car in ordinary conversation, is almost always a direct reference to its quality.

The average owner is not merely satisfied, but almost extravagantly enthusiastic.

The economy of the car, its quality, the remarkable things it does when called upon are comments heard whenever the car is discussed.

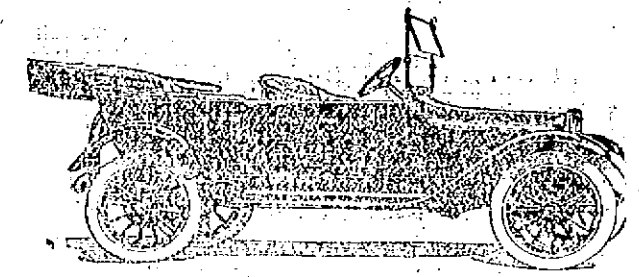

Concentrating on one car simplifies the problem of production and leaves the Dodge Brothers free to devote themselves to a continuous process of improvement.

That is why Dodge Brothers, in their first year, manufactured and marketed a volume of cars which ranked them among the first five producers in the world.

It will pay you to visit us and examine this car. The gasoline consumption is unusually low. The tire mileage is unusually high.

Cost of Living Demonstration.

Two reports from Chicago relative to an experiment to be tried there in connection with the cost of living. The experiment is to be conducted by the city health department under the direction of John D. Robertson, health commissioner. Six men and six women have volunteered to live for two weeks on a scientific diet to be provided by the department to demonstrate that one can live sufficiently well on forty cents a day, or, as one report puts it, on twenty-five cents a day. The "diet squad," as the men and women are called, have been weighed and will attend to their regular work while the experiment is in progress, at the end of which they will be weighed again in order that the results may be clearly and fully shown. The commission says that one reason for the high cost of living is the apparent willingness of the public to pay any price demanded for its luxuries, and this experiment is designed to show that people can live in a way to conserve their health and strength at far less than the burdensome costs they are now bearing.

Perhaps this may be done but it will fall far short of solving the cost of living problem. There is in this country what is known as the American standard of living. The people are used to this and are not going to abandon it until they are obliged to. At present it costs to maintain this standard more than the people feel that it ought to, even after making due allowance for conditions due to the foreign war. They believe that in many cases extortion is being practiced by dealers in food stuffs and that the remedy for the burdens that are being borne is a correction of this evil and not an attempt to learn how to keep soul and body together on twenty-five or forty cents a day. Commissioner Robertson says, "I recommend New England boiled dinners and mush and milk to cut down the cost of living," but the people are not ready to confine themselves to such a bill of fare.

There will be a certain interest in this Chicago experiment, but, as before stated, it will not solve the cost of living problem. The country produces enough for all and the people are entitled to what they want to eat and plenty of it. And most of them are getting it in spite of high prices. Money is plentiful and wages are high, a condition that is apt to be accompanied by high prices. The thing to find out is whether it is necessary that prices should be as high as they are, and to bring to book any and all extortionists whom the investigation may bring to light.

Commissioner of Immigration F. C. Howe thinks it would be well for the government to lend money to immigrants for the purpose of establishing them on farms. But why lend the money? Why not give them farms outright, stock them fully and set the new-comers up in business as becomes the "mell-ing pot of the world"? There is a certain amount of attention due to immigrants along certain lines, but it is not necessary to make pets or mollycoddles of them. A fair chance at the opportunities this country offers ought to be considered a pretty good start by those who come to our shores, and it is.

Not long ago a coal dealer in a small eastern town declared there was no excuse for the high prices most of the dealers are charging. And now the people of another eastern town are reported to be clubbing together and buying coal by the car load which is placed in their cellars at less than $7 a ton. If this is true the people are liable to beat the government investigators to the solution of the coal problem.

It must be that those who are calling for a half-cent coin have not noticed how the people spend their money. With all the groaning about the cost of living they pass it over the counters, and too much of it over the bars, in a way to show that the lack of a half-cent coin is the least of their troubles.

The secretary of the National Voters' League thinks the outlook is good for removing the "pork barrel" from national legislation. Any man who can think this is supplied with thinking material for a long time. And the pity is that this can be said regardless of what party may be in power.

It is said that England is preparing to transport war widows to Canada in large numbers, in the expectation that many of them will marry Canadian farmers. But how will this scheme work out if the draft on the Canadian population for the army continues?

Among the things prominently mentioned by General Pershing as most acceptable Christmas gifts to the soldiers are pipes, tobacco, cigar paper, cigars and match boxes. There is no hint here that the soldiers do not have plenty to eat and to wear.

The greatness of Texas does not consist alone in the extent of its territory. The value of its peanut crop this year amounts to $24,000,000.

WILL BE MADE TO ATTEND SCHOOL

Foreign Children Are Now Traced to Where They Will Finally Settle.

Foreign children under the age of 16 years who arrive in this country, are now traced to where they will finally settle and the school department of that city or town notified so that the children may be made to attend school. In cases where the children come to their parents, the Department of Education at Washington notifies the state department and they in turn notify the local department, the matter being turned over to the transient officer to follow up and locate the children and see that they are placed in school.

In cases where the children come to a relative the Department of Immigration makes the relative sign a bond to place the children in school until they are sixteen years of age or have completed the requirements of the school board where they locate. These notices are sent direct to the school department from the Immigration Bureau at Ellis Island and as a rule, arrive before the child fails to live up to the bond is attended to by the Department after the report of the local transient officer is received.

EDITORIAL COMMENT

Gardner on the Border

(From the Boston Traveler)

The Hon. Augustus P. Gardner of Massachusetts has gone to Texas for the purpose of studying conditions there and learning what there is to learn concerning the effectiveness or ineffectiveness of the May law in actual operation.

Mr. Gardner is a close and careful observer. His attacks on men and measures are, as a rule, fortified by exact facts. Some of his serious charges concerning the nation's state of unpreparedness were promptly and recklessly denied by official Washington, but afterward proved to be true. Mr. Gardner believes in preparedness. The administration did not, but now does. One of the reports from Washington is that the administration will soon take another step and announce itself in favor of universal military training. Meanwhile, the representative from the Essex district can be trusted to obtain facts that are worth knowing and to present them in such a manner that they will receive attention, even though at first, from force of official habit, they may be vigorously denied.

In the Customs Service

(From the Boston Traveler)

Frank M. Halstead, chief of the customs division of the treasury department, addressing the customs officers of the United States in New York on Monday, told them, among other things, that "there are those in the service who appear at their offices only on pay-days." He also told them that "the position of naval officer is about as useful to the customs service as a second tail on the tip of a cat's nose."

Chief Halstead knows what he is talking about. He is honest in his efforts to obtain economy and efficiency in the customs service, but it is unlikely that he will be successful. The position of naval officer, for example, is a political plum given to deserving politicians. In Boston the place goes invariably to a New Hampshire man, no matter which party controls the legislature. There are eight naval officers in the service. H. Otto Wittjen, who was the Democratic candidate for Governor of New Jersey, holds the New York position at $2000. The others receive $1500.

It is rank discrimination against the payroll padder in City Hall, Boston, to make war on them and utterly to ignore the padded payrolls of the federal and state service.

A Direct Vote for President

(From the Manchester Mirror)

Democrats were somewhat dismayed on the second day after election when they read in the New York World, which is recognized as the leader of the Democratic press of the country, an editorial advocating a change in the method of voting for president and vice president, so that the voter will mark his ballot directly for the individual candidate and not for presidential electors, who, in turn, act as messengers in transmitting the vote to the capitol at Washington. Under the present system each state votes for electors, and in states that are always solidly for one party or the other, it matters little to either party how the election is conducted or what means are adopted to prevent a part of the electorate from casting their ballots and having their ballots counted.

For instance, the state of Alabama has 12 votes in the electoral college. It is recognized by all that regardless of the number of votes that may be cast by Republicans in the state, these 12 electoral votes will be cast for the Democratic candidate. Therefore, Republicans either stay away from the polls in Alabama or they raise no serious question when their votes are not properly counted. But if the suggestion of the New York World were adopted with the number of votes cast for president in each state were reported to Washington and the plurality of all the votes in the United States, rather than the plurality of votes in an electoral college, should determine the result, the Republicans not only in Alabama, but in every other state in the Union, would have an interest in seeing that no Republican voters were disfranchised in that or in any other state.

It may be safely predicted that the Democrats of the South, who have found a means of disfranchising not only the colored people but a large number of whites as well, will never consent to a change in the method of electing a president which will secure a fair election and an honest count in every state.

Why Shoes Go Up.

(From the Newburyport News)

Whatever may be true of other necessities of life and the rising prices, there can be no reason whatever for doubling that the cause of the advance in the price of boots and shoes is the increasing scarcity of leather.

Nothing is more important in war than keeping an army well shod. Every government gives the strictest attention to seeing that the soldiers have strong comfortable boots and enough of them. These boots are heavy and every pair takes much more leather than would be used in ordinary boots. Moreover, they are very rapidly worn out. Soldiers on the march or in the trenches cannot be economical of shoe leather. The wastage is naturally tremendous.

We notice from trade papers that towards the end of October a million pair of boots were furnished to the Russian government. By the end of the present month a similar number of pairs will go to the Italian troops. By the end of the year, two and a half million pairs will be furnished British troops. In three months the British government will require three thousand tons of shoulders and light bands of leather, and almost twenty-five million feet of upper leather, including ten million of kip and pure chrome.

No mention is here made of Germany, Austria, and Bulgaria, which must be doing about as much for their soldiers.

Add the totals together and there is little trouble in seeing why it is with the supply cut off as it necessarily is, that dealers in this country are worrying about the future supply and are beginning to predict all kinds of fancy prices. So long as armies must be shod first there will be but little chance for the rest of the people.

The more reason there is why we should pray for an honorable ending of the European war. The bankruptcy of these nations may not trouble us, but we are fast moving towards the time when our own increasing difficulties will prove more than we can bear.

A SPLENDID SUCCESS ASSURED

Tri-County Men's Convention Arouses Remarkable Interest.

Reports from Dover indicate that the Tri-County Men's convention which is to be held in this city on Dec. 10-12 has aroused a remarkable interest among the men of the Dover churches. Judging from the registration sheet that have been secured, already the number is nearly three hundred and fifty, with the convention over two weeks away.

Executive Secretary Merrill says that in all his experience with conventions he has never known so large an advance registration so long before the convention. From now on men from Dover will visit churches in the three counties in order to interest the men in the convention and secure their attendance. "The hope now is that the total registration will be on the fifty-fifty basis—five hundred from Dover and five hundred from outside. The payment by each registered delegate of a fee of fifty cents enables the committee to do away with all offerings and collections during the sessions.

The outstanding figure of the Convention will undoubtedly be Fred H. Fisher, who not only will lead the Convention, but will speak three times. Of Mr. Fisher's work at a recent New England Convention it was said: "Fred H. Fisher, the incomparable, was at his best as the leader of the great host, his tireless energy, his sparkling wit, his vivid word pictures of heaven and hell, his devout spirit, gripped the meeting from the first moment and lifted it to continually higher levels."

But Mr. Fisher will be ably seconded by Hubert C. Herring, D. D., who will give his great address on "Can America Keep Christ?" at the Sunday evening session. Dr. Herring is the administrative leader of the Congressional Churches and a speaker of rare fame. His ability is widely recognized outside his own denomination and his seven years' work as General Secretary of the Congressional Home Missionary Society singularly fits him to speak to the theme assigned him.

P. H. J. Lerrigo, M. D., has had a remarkably varied experience in the missionary field, although he is now spending his time in this country as New England Secretary of the Baptist Missionary Societies. He has worked in New York City, in Alaska among the Eskimoes, and in the Philippine Islands. As a medical missionary he came into the closest possible contact with the life of the native people. He knows how to use his experiences as pungent illustrations in dealing with acute problems in the churches here at home.

CURRENT OPINION

Twenty bills for universal health insurance before twenty legislatures this winter will result from the present widespread belief that universal health insurance is needed to bring the best medical attention to all.

Today only the very poor and the very rich benefit by the advances in medicine. Universal health insurance will bring it to that great middle group. Efficient medical care provided by health insurance and the financial incentive to lessen the cost will reduce the amount of sickness which today causes a loss of nine days yearly to each of the nation's thirty million wage earners. Just as workman's compensation produced a "safety first" movement, so health insurance will inaugurate a "health first" campaign.—By John B. Andrews, Secretary American Association for Labor Legislation.

John K. Birge comes right from the firing line in Smyrna, Turkey. He is the head of the Turkish Department of the New International College in Turkey. Mr. Birge is the alert type of man who gets a hearing in these modern days. He is a forceful speaker, hurled against the background of a most exciting and vital experience.

BOSTON LETTER

Boston, Nov. 25.—The mobilization of Massachusetts troops and their return to the national guard of the commonwealth from service in the U. S. army was virtually completed today. There still remains in the service at home, the supply company of the regiment of artillery. This company will probably be released from service some time next week. Brigadier General E. Leroy Sweetser and his staff consisting of Major Charles T. Cahill and Lieut. Barry, were among the last to be mustered out of service and take their place in the Massachusetts troops again. Major Charles C. Smith, Infantry U. S. A., has been ordered to Boston to take his place with the inspector-instructors now here. Major Smith was born in Ohio and was appointed to the military academy from New York. The major is at present on leave and will report following his expiration.

When Billy Sunday's converts hit the sawdust trail and kneel in hopeful "beatitudes," a four-page leaflet is taken with them along the road to Heaven is received. "Paste into your Bible." It is marked. A picture of Billy Sunday adorns the upper half of the first page. Then comes: "Dear Friend—You have by this act of coming forward publicly acknowledged your faith in Jesus Christ as your personal Saviour. No one could possibly be more rejoiced that you have done this, or be more anxious for you to succeed and get the most joy out of the Christian life than I. Therefore I ask you to read carefully this little tract. Cordially yours, W. A. Sunday."

Fire Prevention Commissioner John A. O'Keefe has sent out the following communication to the oil concerns in and about Boston: "From December 15th to January 1st, on account of the congestion caused by Christmas trade and Christmas traffic will you kindly arrange that your gasoline and naphtha wagons will not pass along Washington street from Adams Square to Doylston nor through the crowded streets running off Washington street between the hours of 8.30 a. m. and 7. 1/2 p. m. In these crowded streets on the days mentioned there is a possibility of accident that might result in great disaster. The chances will be very much lessened if, with your usual readiness to co-operate with able to do as I have requested.

The labor question and the high cost of living are among the most serious factors with which lumbermen have to contend according to testimony of lumber shippers at the lumber rate hearing before Examiner Attorney Wilbur La Rue of the Interstate Commerce Commission at the Federal building. Another thing which has made things hard for New England lumbermen is the fact that large quantities of North Carolina pine are being shipped here and causing keen competition with New England spruce. It was testified that beans, a staple article of food for women, have increased from 85 cents a bushel in earlier lots, to $2.25 a bushel in the last ten years, and flour has jumped from $4.10 and $4.15 to $10 and $11 a barrel in the same period.

In attempting to answer the question, "What is the matter with our railroads?" Professor William J. Cunningham of Harvard told the executive council of the Massachusetts Board of Trade that the traffic today is greater than the capacity of the railroad facilities; that since 1906 and 1907 it has been difficult for the railroad companies to continue their policy. In effect since the Civil war, of keeping their facilities ahead of their demands of the traffic, so that as the business grew, the roads were equipped to handle it expeditiously and at lower unit costs.

KITTERY WOMAN ASKS COURT FOR ABSOLUTE DIVORCE

Mrs. Atwood Claims Desertion and Other Charges Against Husband.

Through her attorney, Arthur E. Sewell of this city, Mrs. Ella Theodore Atwood of Kittery has brought proceedings for absolute divorce from Henry Arthur S. Atwood, alleging that her husband had deserted her and that he was cruel and abusive to her and guilty of a statutory offense.

Mrs. Atwood says she was united in marriage to Henry A. S. Atwood in Cambridge, Mass., on December 2, 1913, by Rev. Mr. Green, a Baptist minister. For a while the couple lived in Cambridge, and then went to Houghton, and from there to Dover, thence to Keene, N. H., back to Maine and this time they moved to Kittery, where the libellant has made her home for a period of over six years.

The libellant says that she has been a true and faithful wife to the libellee, but that he has been guilty of cruel and abusive treatment, and was guilty of a statutory charge, and in January, 1915, the libellant further alleges that the libellee deserted her and has not contributed to her support. A daughter, who is now 20 years of age and married, was born to the couple.

APPOINTMENTS BY GOVERNOR AND COUNCIL

Executive Commissioner B. O. Aldrich has been reappointed by the governor and council.

James L. Dow of Lancaster was named pharmacy commissioner, succeeding Paul Boire.

Fred C. Thorp was nominated by Governor Spaulding as associate justice of the Lisbon police court.

Harry C. Phillips of Haverhill was appointed a trustee of New Hampshire college, to fill the vacancy caused by the resignation of Dana J. Brown of Ossipee.

PEOPLES' OPINIONS.

It Is Time for Action.

Editor.—Every navy yard appears to be very active in a campaign for a piece of that appropriation for station improvements and it is time that Portsmouth citizens in general interested themselves. We want Portsmouth to grow and the better the conditions at the navy yard the better for our city. In a short time there will be 2000 men employed at the Portsmouth navy yard and they will be there permanently. This means that the population will increase and what helps the yard helps Portsmouth. Why not a citizens' movement for another dry dock, a new machine shop and more quays? It is known to every workman the conditions at the naval station last month, when there were so many ships tied up there that the department found it necessary to send ships to Boston to be docked, owing to overcrowded dry dock at Portsmouth.

This should never happen again and if won't if the people of Portsmouth are alive and get busy for the several improvements needed across the river. The administration claims that the appropriation will be spent where the government can see the best results. Natural advantages here speak louder than words and it is up to the navy to give us what we need and should have. F. W. R.

LACONIA TO HAVE FAST TEAM.

Laconia is to be represented by one of the best basketball teams that will be found playing the game in New Hampshire.

The team will be under the management of Howard W. Hyde, who has been so successful in producing winning teams in seasons past. The first home game of the season will take place at the Armory on Court street, Thanksgiving eve when the Laconia team will play the fast Concord team. The Laconia team will line up as follows:

Forwards: R. Dalton, H. Joyce, J. Johnson, R. G. G. In the victory lineup will be found J. McMurphy, R. R. McMurphy, D. Stone, C. Reardon, H. Green, H. Joseph H. Kitching, of that city, the popular umpire and referee, will have charge of the game as follows:—The game started at 7.30.

ADVOCATES NATIONAL CONTROL

Richard Olney Would Have Government Take Over Railroads of Country.

Washington, Nov. 25.—Richard Olney of Boston, former Secretary of State in the Cleveland administration and one of the foremost constitutional lawyers in the country, this afternoon surprised the joint railroad commission by advocating a direct central control of all railroads instead of the present dual control by state and federal commissions. The argument was submitted in the form of a brief by A. P. Thomas, counsel for the railroads, at the end of his three day argument in favor of the railroads.

SIX GERMAN DESTROYERS MAKE RAID

London, Nov. 25.—The Admiralty today that six German destroyers early today attempted a raid on the North Downs on the Kentish coast, but were driven off before they could do any damage. The destroyers fired several rounds, only one shell taking effect on a mine sweeper. None of the crew were injured.

CORNELL WINS THE RACE

New Haven, Conn., Nov. 25.—Cornell today won the ninth annual intercollegiate cross country run here this forenoon. Winn and Dr. Drucker of the Cornell team finishing third and fourth. Captain John Overton of the Yale team finished first, winning the individual honor and he created a new record of 36m 31s. Fox of Michigan was second.

VILLA STILL ATTACKING CHIHUAHUA

El Paso, Nov. 25.—Villa's forces are attacking Chihuahua City on three sides while the main assault is being made against Santa Rosa hill, with the hope of capturing Gen. Treviño's artillery. The attack began at dawn and was still raging when the wire communication with that city was destroyed.

REVOLUTIONISTS DECLARE WAR ON BULGARIA

London, Nov. 25.—Despatches received here today state that the Greek revolutionary government headed by Ex-Premier Venizelos has declared war against Bulgaria.

$7,500,000 LOSS BY FARMERS' IGNORANCE

Washington, Nov. 25.—The Department of Agriculture today announced that cotton growers lost over seven and one-half million dollars in 1915-16, because grades were not properly taken into account in the primary sales. A bulletin issued by the department points out that the producers can wipe out this loss by becoming familiar with the different grades and by proper ginning, adequate baling and covering of the cotton.

MORE WORLD WARS COMING, BECK PREDICTS

New York, Nov. 25.—The present European war is "only the beginning of a series of titanic conflicts," James M. Beck predicted at the banquet of the Fifth Avenue Association here. He added: "The world is likely to be a seething cauldron of international hatred for some decades, and it will be difficult and perhaps impossible for the United States to escape in the future from the entanglements of this world crisis."

HARVARD WINS TOSS.

New Haven, Nov. 25.—Harvard won the toss and allowed Yale to kick off, choosing the north goal, with the advantage of the high breeze that is blowing. The game started at 7.30.

PARLOR CAR SERVICE

ON MOUNTAIN DIVISION

Beginning Dec. 4, and continuing through the winter, a parlor car, which will accommodate the people who desire to get into the hills for a winter holiday, will leave Boston every day except Sunday at ten minutes of one in the afternoon and run to Intervale, reaching there at three minutes of six. It is planned to have the parlor car leave Intervale at seven minutes past four every day except Monday and get into Boston at twenty minutes after nine. On Sundays it will leave Intervale at twenty-five minutes after four and get into Boston at fifty minutes after nine.

With the popularity that is being accorded week-ends in the country during the winter, it is believed this car will play an important part in the comfort of winter vacationists.

COMMISSION*ADOPTS BORDER*PROTECTION

Provides for the Conditional Withdrawal of American Troops Now in Mexico.

Atlantic City, N. J., Nov. 25.—A protocol providing for the conditional withdrawal of the American troops now in Chihuahua, Mexico and for the military control of the border, but with the supplemental stipulation that United States troops shall be sent into Mexico in pursuit of bandits at any time the American government deems it necessary, was signed here yesterday by the members of the Mexican-American joint commission.

One of the official copies was taken by Alberto J. Paul of the Mexican commission who left here last night for New York whence he will start on Monday for Queretaro, where he will submit it to General Venustiano Carranza for his approval. The other copy will be delivered to the American government by Secretary of the Interior Franklin K. Lane, chairman of the American commission who left here yesterday for Washington.

If the protocol is ratified by the two governments the commissions will convene again on December 8 to resume the discussion of other questions affecting the two countries. If ratification of either government is withheld the work of the conference will be declared at an end.

Following is a paraphrase of the agreement to which the last signature was affixed at 3:45 o'clock yesterday afternoon:

First—The American troops now in Chihuahua, commanded by General John J. Pershing, shall be withdrawn within forty days from the approval of the protocol by the respective governments provided that within that time the conditions in that part of Mexico have not become such as to endanger the American border. In such event the time shall be extended.

Second—The Mexican army shall patrol the Mexican side of the border and the American army the American side, but this shall not preclude co-operation between the two forces to preserve peace upon the border.

Third—It shall be left to the commanding officers of the armies on the border of both nations to enter into such arrangements for co-operation against bandits whenever it is possible.

The right of the American government to send troops across the border in pursuit of bandits was not incorporated in the protocol, but was made the subject of a supplemental memorandum. The Mexicans had contended earnestly against signing any agreement in which they appeared to sanction what they termed the violation of their national territory. It was the agreement of the Americans finally to content themselves with stating in a separate memorandum that induced the Mexicans to sign the agreement.

The Mexican commissioners agreed that as the American troops are withdrawn Mexican troops shall be moved forward to occupy the territory evacuated. The disposition of the Mexican troops shall be left to the Mexican commander. General Pershing is to have charge of the plan of withdrawal and the right to use the railroad to Juarez for the transportation of his troops and the movement of his supplies if he desires.

Pray was represented by Justice Emory of Rochester. Attorney General James P. Tuttle was present as adviser to the governor.

HARVARD IS FAVORITE

favorite in the wagering with almost all the males over anxious to get down their bets. Undoubtedly more money will be at stake on the outcome of this afternoon's tussle than any heretofore waged between the Crimson and the Bulldog.

Yale seems to have a slight advantage in team power. Man for man, Harvard has a few who are peers of the Bulldogs. But in units, Yale stands out. But always in doing such contests, the "breaks" must be figured. They win games for teams just as often as does superiority in attack and defense. And so the contest promises to be a thriller.

The Harvard backfield—Casey, Horween and Thatcher—seems a trifle inferior to Braden, Le Gore and Neville. Casey is the best sprinter of the crowd but Casey's brilliance in that division is offset by the Yale backfield supremacy in other divisions. Harvard hasn't a drop-kicker who ranks with Le Gore or Braden. Le Gore is a better punter than is Horween. Both Le Gore and Braden can hit a line with greater success than can Thatcher, Horween or Casey. And Neville is faster than either Thatcher or Horween.

At quarterback, Harvard has two men—Murray and Robinson—who surely will figure in the game. Smith, the Bulldog star, is regarded as better than either, but he has been ailing and may not get into the game for the full play. But La Roche, his understudy substitute, demonstrated in the game with Princeton that he can handle the job with much skill. So Yale isn't worrying as to the first position.

The Harvard line earlier in the year was stronger than that of Yale, but Tad Jones has so tinkered with his defense that it has come close to perfection; close enough at least to make it match with that of Harvard.

The probable lineups follow:

Yale	Position	Harvard
Mosely	L E.	Coolege
Gates	L T.	Wheeler
Black (Capt.)	L G.	Dadum (Capt.)
Hutchinson	Center	Harris
Fox	R G.	Snow

COMMISSION*FORM OF CITY*GOVERNMENT

Marion Booth Kelley Lectures at the Woman's Building on Friday Afternoon.

At the Woman's Building, Friday afternoon, Marion Booth Kelley lectured on "Commission form of city government" and the growth of the modern city. The topic was interestingly and intelligently handled. Since 46 per cent of the population is now living in cities of 50,000 or over, the problems of family life have become more and more municipal ones, as is evidenced by the National Municipal Conference in session this week at Springfield, Mass.

Community living has been experimented with in Rome and Glasgow for two years and has proven a financial, social and educational success. Since patriotism has its origin in love for one's home and city, Mrs. Kelley strongly urged the fostering of civic centers and civic art.

The course of lectures given by Mrs. Kelley are well worth the attention of the community. The next lecture, "Governmental Institutions," will be given Thursday, Dec. 14, at 3 p. m., in the Woman's Building.

HOLDS EMBARGO AS CLUB TO CUT H. C. OF L.

Administration Stands Ready to Back Fitzgerald-A. F. of L. Asks Investigation by Congress of Food Prices

Washington, Nov. 24.—The Administration stands ready to back Chairman Fitzgerald and his food embargo proposition if such a policy should appear to be feasible and popular. No denial that such will be the course can be obtained from any responsible official. On the other hand, no official close to the President will indicate that Mr. Wilson is looking favorably on Mr. Fitzgerald's proposition.

It is deprecated generally that the valiant chairman of the House Appropriation Committee and member of Tammany Hall should have defined an embargo on food as retaliatory against Great Britain. Secretary of State Lansing in effect, has discounted this statement by declaring that an embargo would be purely a domestic matter—one not involving our foreign relations.

It is well known that the problem of meeting the high cost of living is one which is perplexing the whole American people at the present moment, especially the political party in charge of the National Government. The unprecedented and apparently permanent rise in foodstuffs has sent Federal investigators scurrying around about the country stirring up more commotion than anything else. In a few instances of extortion, dealers have been frightened by these investigators into bringing down prices. On the whole the effect has been nil. With the rise in prices, labor demands wage increases, and with wage increases prices rise again. The Federal experts who are studying the phenomenon see little hope of peace unless some drastic radical action shall be taken. Such action would be for example, an embargo.

All signs point to the conclusion that the Government is holding the embargo as a club to be used in case conditions do not return to normal by themselves. The Administration may be forced to take up the matter and impose an embargo in spite of its most conservative counsel. The people are speaking to Congress and the President through petitions and resolutions which are rolling in daily in increasing numbers. Not all, if even a considerable portion, can be traced to hypocritical propaganda. If the idea continues to grow, the Administration will unquestionably act upon it.

A. F. of L. For Food Inquiry
Baltimore, Nov. 24.—A prompt, rigid and full investigation by Congress of the holding of foodstuffs and coal "for the purpose of raising prices above the normal rate" was urged in a resolution adopted today by the convention of the American Federation of Labor. It also asked for the appointment of a Federal commission which should include among its members representatives of organized labor to investigate the whole question of the high cost of living.

Hope was expressed that speedy action would be taken and that the commission's report would include a recommendation for the prosecution and severe punishment of those found guilty of inflicting upon the public an unwarranted increase in the cost of living.

The necessity of placing an embargo as far as our international trade agreements will permit, on the export of wheat and other foodstuffs until prices thereof return to the figures prevailing before the outbreak of the European war, was urged upon President Wilson and Congress by the resolution.

The Department of Justice was urged in an adopted resolution to institute immediate investigation, through Federal grand juries, in the larger cities of the United States, for the purpose of obtaining evidence of alleged illegal conspiracies to compel the payment of "extortionate prices for papers used in the printing industry."

NEW MINISTER FOR SOMERVILLE
Boston, Nov. 24.—The Rev. George H. Howes of the Universalist church in Claremont, N. H., has accepted a call to the Third Universalist church of West Somerville, of which the Rev. F. A. Wilnot, the actor-preacher, has up to a short time ago been minister. The Rev. Mr. Howes is 40 years old, a graduate of Tufts College, and has filled pastorates in Marblehead, New Bedford and Claremont.

R. R. HEADS TO GIVE FREE REIN TO PRESIDENT

FEEL CONFIDENT WILSON CAN DEVISE PLAN FOR AVOIDING SERIOUS LABOR TROUBLES

Washington, Nov. 24.—President Wilson will be given a free rein by the railroads of the country in working out legislative remedies for industrial disputes. It was learned today that assurances to this effect have come from railroad officials.

The reasons are two-fold. First, it has become known the roads, devoting their entire law force in combatting the constitutionality of the Adamson eight-hour law, have not considered formulation of a plan which would meet the approval of the brotherhoods.

Second, the road executives believe the President can be depended on by themselves, the brotherhoods and the public to put forth a feasible plan that will eliminate the strikes to which transportation systems are now subjected, and which would be supported by all parties concerned.

It was admitted today that after frequent conferences of the railroad executive to formulate some definite plan of eliminating strikes and lockouts, it was decided to "put the whole thing up to Wilson." In this connection it was expected the executives have reached the conclusion that any such plan submitted by them could not be regarded "the best and most satisfactory," since it might be looked on as a measure constructed "in submission to the acknowledged power of labor and tempered with threat of strike by the workers."

SKETCH OF THE LATE SIR HIRAM MAXIM
Sir Hiram Maxim, inventor of the famous automatic gun, bearing his name, and brother of the equally famous Hudson Maxim, was born in Sangerville, Me., Feb. 5, 1840, the son of parents of old New England stock. Old-timers of the district say he was known as the worst boy for miles around. His pranks were endless, he himself admitted in later years. He got little schooling and was put to work in a paint shop. Here in 1858, he built a bicycle out of old carriage wheels, one wheel behind the other and a suspended hub.

Coasting down a hill on his odd device, Hiram frightened a farmer's horse and caused it to bolt into the fields. The farmer gave the boy a good thrashing and broke the wheel to pieces. Hiram never built another one.

Instead he devoted himself to other inventions. His uncle had an engineering plant in Fitchburg, Mass., and here the boy went to work, later gathering experience with an instrument-maker and shipbuilder.

It was as an inventor of automatic machinery for making carburetted air to light houses that he became well known. He also came nearer to making artificial diamonds than any one had ever done up to that time and his experiments in this line helped greatly to make incandescent lighting possible.

In 1888 after he had gone to London and got up a plant at Italian Garden London, he built his first successful automatic gun. According to some accounts, he first patriotically offered the gun, which had caused a great sensation among military men throughout the world, to the United States government and was turned down. Then, so the story goes, the British government eagerly took him up.

However this may be, Maxim threw in his lot with the British. His firm was merged in the great organization of Vickers' Sons and Maxim, in which he was a leading figure for many years.

In 1899 he became a British citizen, explaining to a correspondent: "The time has arrived thank God, when a man can be a good American and a British subject at the same time."

Two years later he was knighted. He stood high in the affections of the British people.

This important inventions number hundreds. His additions to the science of aerial navigation were especially noteworthy, while modern warships owe much to him.

In December, 1908 he predicted the bombardment of London from the air in the next war, saying:

"Does any one doubt for a moment that in case we find ourselves at war with a continental power, flying machines will be used for bombarding English towns, both on the coast and inland? The city of London within a year's time can be attacked without our enemy needing to fear the boasted British fleet."

At the same time he often ridiculed the dirigible Zeppelin balloons.

Sir Hiram's controversy with his brother Hudson who remained an American, lasted many years. Both were found of writing magazine articles, attacking the claims to fame of the other. As a matter of fact each was entitled to the highest praise as a contributor to human mechanical progress.

The dispute had comic phases. Their old mother lived at Wayne, Me., and the brothers who refused to speak, once found themselves in town for a visit at the same time. Neither would go to their mother's home while the other was there and it was possible to see Hiram standing on one side of the main street explaining to an admiring throng the details of his automatic gun, while a similar crowd stood around Hudson on the other side of the street, drinking in his prophecies about the future of explosives and other subjects.

Sir Hiram published his autobiography, "My Life," in 1915. He married Miss Sarah Haynes in 1881.

INVESTIGATE NEWS PRINT SHORTAGE
Washington, Nov. 24.—The Federal Trade Commission this afternoon gave out the statement that they would start an investigation into the newspaper paper shortage and will begin their hearings on December 7. The testimony of everybody interested, manufacturers, publishers and jobbers will be taken.

MANCHESTER POLICE GET WANDERER FROM ASYLUM
Manchester, Nov. 24.—A man of German nationality, and apparently between 50 and 60 years of age, was discovered wandering aimlessly on South Main street last night, at a late hour, and was placed under arrest and confined in the police station over night. As little information could be obtained by questioning the man, owing to the fact that he could speak very little English, Deputy East sent for Herman Rodelsperger to interview him. Mr. Rodelsperger found the man extremely reticent and apparently frightened by his position behind the bars. He gave the name of Andrew Smith, but as this is far from being a Teutonic common name it was believed that for some reason the man was concealing his real name.

The mystery was cleared up this forenoon when the authorities at the state hospital for the insane at Concord called up Deputy East to learn if he could give any information regarding a patient who had disappeared from the institution yesterday. The man has been a trusty and was allowed the liberty of the grounds and performed light duties around the asylum. He is considered feeble minded.

Yesterday he escaped and the authorities failed to locate him until this forenoon they identified the prisoner as the missing patient. He could speak but little English and would tell nothing to assist in his identification. He will be returned to the institution. Deputy East failed to get the man's real name over the phone.

RUB RHEUMATIC, ACHING JOINTS AND STOP PAIN
Instant relief with small trial bottle of old, penetrating "St. Jacob's Oil."

Rheumatism is "pain" only. Not one case in fifty requires internal treatment. Stop dragging! Rub soothing, penetrating "St. Jacob's Oil" right into your sore, stiff, aching joints and relief comes instantly. "St. Jacob's Oil" is a harmless rheumatism liniment which never disappoints and cannot burn the skin.

Lather up! Quilt complaining! Get a small trial bottle of old, honest "St. Jacob's Oil" at any drug store, and in just a moment you'll be free from rheumatic pain, soreness and stiffness. Don't suffer! Relief awaits you. "St. Jacob's Oil" is just as good for sciatica, neuralgia, lumbago, backache, sprains.

MEN HAVE RIGHT TO STOP WORKING, A. F. L. DECLARES
Baltimore, Nov. 24.—The American Federation of Labor again today vigorously declared itself against any and all kinds of compulsory arbitration.

"Men, individually and collectively, have a right to stop work any day or any time in a free democracy, and their right is natural, legal, inalienable and never should be surrendered: laws that violate this right are reactionary, unconstitutional and dangerous to the stability of democratic government," the federation declared by resolution.

While the action was aimed directly at the Colorado state law "for enforced investigation of labor disputes" one clause specifically directs organized labor to oppose any effort to enact federal legislation of the same kind.

STEAMER DAY STATE BREAKS UP
Portland, Me., Nov. 24.—The passenger steamer Day State, wrecked at Cape Elizabeth Sept. 23, broke up today under the effects of strong south-east winds. Sections of the vessel were cast high up on the rocks. She had been stripped of furnishings, part of her machinery and metal parts by a junk dealer to whom she was sold by receivers of the Eastern Steamship Corporation.

EUROPE DRAINING GOTHAM OF MILK, RIOTS PREDICTED.
New York, Nov. 24.—Declaring that purchasing agents of the entente alliance could buy his agents by 25 per cent, in the purchase of raw milk from New York state dairymen, Lolon Horton, president of one of the largest milk distributing companies in this city, in a statement today predicted milk riots in this city within a few weeks unless steps were taken immediately to curtail exportation of milk products.

"Our local milk supply is affected seriously by this enormous drain for foreign markets," Mr. Horton said. "In my estimation fully 150,000 quarts of milk that should flow daily into the local markets are being shipped abroad in cheese and powdered and evaporated milk. It is thus the public know that Europe threatens to drain New York's milk supply dry. I have 15 men out searching for additional sources as far west as Chicago. The situation is serious."

HUB MAY WAR ON HIGH COSTS AS IN GOTHAM

GOLD STORAGE PROBE FIRST STEP IN CRUSADE SIMILAR TO MAYOR MITCHELL'S

Boston, like most large cities of the country, has its eyes fixed on the determined fight by Mayor Mitchell of New York against the high cost of living and the efforts being made to cause a drop in foodstuffs and fuel. The investigation by the Boston health board into the methods and conditions of the big cold storage warehouses of the city ordered by Mayor Curley is the first step along the line of action being taken in New York.

Already Mayor Mitchell of New York has caused legal steps to be taken that promise to compel the opening of cold storage plants and the placing of at least a part of their treasured contents on the market. The plan of the New York mayor to fight the exorbitant coal prices by selling fuel direct to the consumer has also been completed.

Such drastic steps, of course, will not be taken unless the present high prices of coal and food continue, but so far have they developed that a plan for delivering coal by means of city teams could be put into operation in 48 hours. This, it is believed, would fully relieve the fuel situation in New York in a very short time. The plan for opening the cold storage houses, though not so fully developed, is looked on as equally promising.

The city's program is based on the simple scheme of having the municipal ash and garbage wagons from the tenement houses return filled with fuel to the tenements. Since these teams dump their refuse along the river, near where they would secure the fuel, it is believed but little time or extra energy would be used.

Mayor Mitchell's plan for providing coal at reasonable rates came after a conference with coal dealers and producers, who agreed to furnish the fuel with which to carry out the project. Sufficient cash to place the first supply at the disposal of the city has been offered by the mayor's food and market commission.

YALE BANKS ON BLACK TO LEAD BLUE TO GLORY

NEW HAVEN LOUD IN PRAISE OF BURLY LEADER AND COACH TAD JONES.

New Haven, Nov. 24.—There's a crimson rim of uncertainty around Yale's delightful optimism today.
All New Haven banks on "Cupid" Black to take his place among the immortals of the gridiron and lead, urge, drive, spur and tease the blue to a win over Harvard in the Bowl tomorrow afternoon.

Yet, behind all this hoping, there is the steady underlying fear that the boys in blue will have their old-time flutter of the heart when they see that crimson horde upon them.
"The horror of Houghton" still has a fell clutch on all Yale men and on all those with blue leanings.
Here they can't easily shake off the memories of those unhappy experiences of 1912, 1913, 1914 and 1915. They hope, but as they hope, they dread.

Never have I seen so much put up to one man as these Yale men are putting up to Black. They endow him with the attributes of a Caesar, an Alexander. He's the university idol. In every Yale room there's a little plaster figure of Yale's "Cupid" and it is nothing other than a mimic likeness of the big-shouldered, barrel-chested, tremendous-headed Capt. Black.

On all sides I hear encomiums on Tad Jones and the work he has done in less than one full year with this Yale football situation. But the god in the machine seems to be Black. The student body figure that Black's splendid genius of leadership and his wonderful individual play were the big factors in the 10-0 win over the Tigers last Saturday.

"If Black is fortunate enough to be spared from injury through the game, we'll win," is the Yale attitude. Everything depends on Black. It's said that it's a case of putting too much on the shoulders of one undergraduate, but Black has wide shoulders and doesn't seem to care.

Last night Cupid and the rest of the Yale varsity were up at the college infirmary, not because there was anything the matter with them but because it was Tad Jones's idea to keep the boys secluded and away from the fluttering atmosphere of the big body of undergraduates and the thousands of old boys of the blue who are hourly coming into the city.

No Harvard Picnic, Says Capt. Black
"Can't tell you'll win," said Black last night. "But tell your friends Harvard isn't going to have much fun at our expense this year."

Tad Jones isn't saying a word about the game. He's keeping both hands over his mouth. He was misquoted the other day, to the effect that Yale would easily win the Harvard game, and he gets into 10-second form whenever he sees a newspaperman coming his way these days.

Fudge Heffelfinger, that great old-time guard of the blue, however, says that Yale has at least an even chance, and says that he believes the elusive breaks of the game will decide the issue, so close is the margin between the two eleven.

But the betting on the game is a rich and interesting sidelight.
Early this morning the much heralded even money that Yale would win was absolutely invisible. Yale men want big odds in their favor. They want Harvard men to put 10 to Yale's 6. Chances are that by nightfall the betting will be 2-1 on Harvard, unless the wisecracks of the professional game grasp the idea that the short end of 2-1 that the Crimson wins is a mighty tempting and worthwhile proposition.

The "Cress Club" ..... $5.00

The "Cress Club" is mellow in color, a shade darker than a chummy briar pipe. Mellow in feel, like a glove. One of the few soft leathers strong enough for hard wear. If you want a good sound shoe this fall, come in and ask to see the "Cress Club."

STRICKEN WITH ODD DISEASE

Portsmouth Navy Yard Workers Ill With "Brass Foundry Ague."

Several workmen employed in the foundry at the Portsmouth navy yard have been taken suddenly ill with attacks of what is known as "brass foundry ague." Five of the workmen were so seriously affected that it was necessary for them to seek medical treatment at the yard dispensary.

This may call for an investigation of the ventilation and sanitary system of the foundry by the medical authorities of the yard. The disease, which is common in smelting plants and establishments of a similar nature, affects the patient by severe chill and shaking and is caused by inhaling the fumes of the molten metal while working. While poor ventilation is usually the cause of this, this is not always the case and other conditions might be responsible. The treatment in cases of this sort is to induce rest together with drinking hot milk and other remedies of similar properties. Those affected at the yard have been treated by the yard medical officers and when they returned to work have shown no ill effects.

The disease is usually of a temporary nature and leaves no after effects. The matter is being investigated by the medical force at the yard and if further cases are reported the foundry will probably be shut down for any changes which may be found necessary in the ventilating system. This was looked over recently and found to be in good working order, but conditions may have arisen in the meantime which may necessitate changes.

THE HERALD HEARS

That the price of gas will be reduced in Dover on December 1.
